Correspondence.

Wright correspondents will be accorded space in this paper for their views on any public interest, it must be in a form understood that the views are not those of the paper.

The Editor of the Intelligencer.

Belleville, Oct. 31, 1887.

Sir, I send you with this letter an article which is culled from the Montreal Herald, dealing with and exposing the operations of the gambling houses in this city. It is the present moment almost every day and night, and I think that you will reproduce it in order that your readers may read and profit by it. I am sure that the community at large is sick of this kind of gambling, and that the community at large is sick of this kind of gambling, and that the community at large is sick of this kind of gambling.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

JAS. W. DUNNET.

Bellefleur, October, 1887.

Daily Intelligencer.

RECEIVED TUESDAY, NOV. 7.

Vital Statistics.

The registration during October was as follows: Births 10, marriages 9, deaths 10.

TEMPERATURE.

As measured by Dr. Hall's Self-Registering Thermometer.

TUESDAY, NOV. 7.

Maximum 40; minimum 25.

Barometer 30.15.

Foggy Up.

The marshes are now tightly frozen and there is a considerable amount of ice on the shores along the bay. A thin ice on the water is also reported.

To View the Launch.

The steamer Nello Outhert, Varma and Annie Gilbert will leave on Monday morning for passengers this morning to Duxbury, whether they want to view the launch of the new steel steamer Ciboia. Mr. Munson also took down a party of friends on his tug.

Hallow Eve.

There was no public celebration of this time-honored festival last night in Bellefleur. Boys and young men, however, indulged in pranks of the usual kind, and especially the spinning away of cats—and it was a time of rejoicing among the children of many households.

Closed to Travel.

Workmen this morning began to strip the flooring of the lower bridge—and what was closed to public travel—and made rapid progress with the work. Several weeks will probably elapse before the bridge is reopened, and there is a large amount of work to be done in connection with it.

From the North.

Fred Tundic, the well-known clerk of the Queen's Hotel, has returned from a week's hunt in the north without a deer. He had had luck with rheumatism and was too honest to buy game. O. E. Hestage and W. Vassilakis Hestage are expected in this week. City to latest advices they had secured no big game.

Deadly Coal Gas.

Several persons were asphyxiated by coal gas in Hamilton on Monday, but will recover. In Montreal, on Sunday night, two servants girls were asphyxiated in the same case. One died. Carelessness or lack of knowledge was the cause in each case. There cannot be too much care exercised in connection with furnaces, self-feeders and chimneys.

Waterworks Intelligencer.

It is expected that the pumps will be working before the end of the present month.

Blasting is kept up all night in the trench on the station road.

Excavating was begun yesterday on Coleman Street, north of the lower bridge. Two steam drills are boring the hard rock, which is close to the surface there.

The work of erecting the stand-up proceeds steadily. It will, when completed, be an imposing structure.

The second pump is being conveyed to the pump house on a large platform truck.

To Avoid Blandness or Grey Hair.

Use Dr. Doremus's Great German Hair Cream. It keeps the scalp clean and free from dandruff and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature greyness and keeps the hair soft and glossy. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will stimulate and grow a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Cream. It is the only reliable. For sale by all druggists in Bellefleur and all parts of Canada.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Nov. 7.

A. F. Wright, a caterpillar found, took on his license, and was acquitted.

In the case of Augustus Hamilton, charged with selling liquor to an Indian, the defendant was acquitted because of conflicting evidence.

John Richards, charged with stealing an overcoat, pipe and watch, was committed to the House of Correction.

William Tynes, of Tyndess, from the Albion Hotel, was found guilty. Prisoner was also charged with stealing a robe from John Nicholson, and was committed until Friday.

The prisoner sold the article to Frank Howell, second hand storekeeper, who, while the theft was in his shop, sold the robe to a farmer. The person who bought the robe is required to return it to the police, in order to forward the interests of justice, and he will receive his money back.

Four boys, named Wm. Hagerman, Dan. Garland, Theo. Clement, and Patrick Clement, were charged with committing a brutal assault on another boy named George Crosswell-Corner. The case was laid over until to-morrow.

Send to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass., for free sample copy of the College Herald, a beautiful illustrated magazine, and so realize what an extraordinary offer we make when we offer to send both the College Herald and the Weekly Intelligencer for a full year for only $1.00, when the price of the College Herald is $1.00 a year. "Setting aside its literary contents, which are of a high order, the collection of receipts for the kitchen and the back room, its practical suggestions and advice for the raising and care of plants and flowers, its instruction for beautifying homes by simple means, and other practical features, make it invaluable to every household." No more adequate recommendation than this from a copy of the College Herald:

The New Depot.

A building that has been erected at the city of Belleville, Ont. is a credit to the place.

Belleville news has been deposited at a place of its own and importance, which was opened to the public on Friday night. The old store building has been altered and is now a waiting room, ticket office, telegraph office and has quarters for travellers. A neat ticket office has been placed in the east end of the building, while in the east end is the ladies' waiting room and in the west end the general waiting room. The finish of the building is of the best, and the interior is of the most modern. The ladies' waiting room is of the most modern, and the interior is of the most modern. The ladies' waiting room is of the most modern, and the interior is of the most modern.

A Worried Cashier.

Grand Trunk Employees Make an Appeal to the Public.

If there is one thing more about the Grand Trunk employees at the depot than the fact that they are a body of men who are a credit to the place, it is that they are a body of men who are a credit to the place.

Another Poor Deed.

A Napanee man went to New York recently and bought $2,000 "good money" for $200. He says the man expressed for him, but when he arrived at Napanee he found nothing for him. A little later he discovered that he was a victim and had to borrow money to pay his way home. He learned a lesson that he will not forget.

Gunpowder Plot.

The Orangemen and True Blues of this city commemorated the frustration of the gunpowder plot by attending divine service at Christ Church yesterday afternoon in a body. The Glengarry band of Trenton, of 10 pieces, a fine organization, headed the members of the club as they marched to and from the church. Rev. S. Daw preached forcibly.

The Cow By-Law.

The cow by-law, as it is now enforced, is very discouraging to those citizens who, trusting to the security of their fences, rear their fancies and planted ornamental shrubs in a palmyverly manner to beautify the city. Cattle do not run at large all over the city and daily do great damage as they have full sway at the best, leave in the city. It is hoped that the City Council's new by-law will put a stop to this.

New Baptist Pastor.

Rev. D. M. Mihal preached his first pastoral sermon at the Baptist church, Sunday morning, from 2nd Timothy, 1:12. He preached, by invitation, to the congregation on the first Sunday in October and was shortly after called to take charge of the church. He was formerly of Cheltenham, near-west of Toronto, and brings a wife and family of two children. His discourses yesterday were favorably commented upon.

It is sold in bottles, where the facts have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. For sale by all druggists in Belleville and all parts of Canada.

Abandoned Farms in New England.
(Halifax Herald.)

The Boston Advertiser of November 22 contains an editorial article on the abandoned farms in Massachusetts that is not without interest to the farmers of Nova Scotia. The peninsula, with which the farmers of the province have been told by the disloyal press that if only they had "unrestrained reciprocity" with the United States their happiness would be complete, is now to be quoted as some length from the Advertiser article, since it shows how important "unrestrained reciprocity" is to the farmers who enjoy and always have enjoyed the fruits of the reciprocity.

Throughout the State of Massachusetts (says the Advertiser) away from the cities and from the large towns, may be met the uprooted and the traces of farms once yielding a support to their occupants, but now abandoned. The signs of former tenancy are to be found in conditions varying from the indications of recent occupancy to those of a generation or longer ago. Sometimes the dwelling house has a look of tenancy in its white paint, and yet yielding much to the weather, and with its green blinds, of course, from exposure of their unpainted surface, but yet have in them war and civility. But the stillness of a solitude hangs over the place, and the sign, affixed to a tree, "For Sale," sits in the practical oblivion of the hapless occupant. Why? He glances over the undulating fields, where the grass is growing thick, and thence back to the stone wall so carefully laid as to suggest that from that perspective by a committee of an agricultural fair it must have been the prize. What labor the reddened and weary hands once expended here, and yet the stone have not failed to repay any profit from the farmer's toil.

Again, the house is not so trim. The storm of several decades have worn the paint, and the disrepair is darkening in the weather. The mortar has crumbled from between the bricks in the chimney, so that you see the light of the sky through the crevices. Some of the panes in the windows are broken. The front door hangs by a hinge. The whole sigh through the empty wood shed. The outbuildings fit to go are falling in. Acres of land once cultivated in far around. The sign, announcing the place as being for sale is broken and hanging by a shingle, and the words are almost unrecognizable.

Another scene will represent a ruin. The roof is tumbled in. The charming prospect of hill and dale and wood and setting sun is now never more to be shut out from the front door, where once the busy household may have sometimes glanced for the door in swing far back and gaping on the scene, and no one is there to push it. The house is now a bare shell, and the boards and timbers are rotting from their repeated wettings and dryings. It is a scene of desolation. The suggestions of former tenancy impart to it a melancholy such as a mere old ruin would not have. But when you see the ruins of a house standing in the midst of lonely woods, where trees have grown up in the fields formerly ploughed and sowed, so that the owner is already counting upon their value for some time to come. But when you see a ruin of a house standing in the midst of lonely woods, where trees have grown up in the fields formerly ploughed and sowed, so that the owner is already counting upon their value for some time to come. But when you see a ruin of a house standing in the midst of lonely woods, where trees have grown up in the fields formerly ploughed and sowed, so that the owner is already counting upon their value for some time to come.

Large areas are there now offered for sale. The price asked for the land is low compared with the price asked for growing crops. This, mark you, is the state of Massachusetts, in which are situated many of the most fertile portions of the New England States. It is in the one New England State that has shown any marked progress during the past thirty years. Yet in the old and comparatively populous State of Massachusetts, farms, we are told, are being year by year abandoned. The Advertiser proceeds to enquire into the reasons for the state of affairs indicated, and it assigns a number of causes. But, strange to say, the want of "unrestrained reciprocity" is not one of them. The farmers, whose failure it is chronic, had, as we have already explained, all the advantages the United States would confer on the farmers of Canada. Yet their farms lie abandoned in the center of the most fertile and most populous of the Union, within half a day's ride of Mr. Wm.'s front door.

Daily Intelligence.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 10.

OUR STREETS.

While no one could reasonably expect that the condition of our streets would be temporarily affected in an injurious way by the laying of the pipes for the water works, yet the condition in which some of our avenues have been left is simply disgraceful—probably dangerous. We refer particularly to Hotel, Ann, Charles and Dundas Streets, on which the material that was excavated is heaped up in such a height as to render driving thereon dangerous after dark. A portion of Dundas Street is worst of all, as the road has been ripped up by the gas company as well as by the water company, and there are two heaps of earth instead of one on the other side, to drive over. Winter is near at hand, and as the streets narrow, and others as well, will be doubly dangerous after the snow has fallen, therefore the public interest demands that the surface of these streets should be brought as near to a level as is desirable. If this work is the duty of the Company they should be called upon to do it within a reasonable time; if, by the arrangement made with the Company, or by the action of the City Council, the work is incumbent upon them to carry out the undertaking without delay.

Further, the company have allowed a large quantity of clay which was used in their excavations at the lower end of the main in the river for the next freshet to sweep down into the harbor, upon the dredging of which a very large amount of money is being expended. The stone which was used in the excavation of the main in the river, and forms a shallow where previously there was deep water, thus increasing the danger of a flood, whether from the breaking up of ice in the spring or the formation of anchor ice in winter. The money spent in the excavation of the harbor will be money wasted if the virtual damming of the river at the lower bridge be permitted. We trust, now that their attention has been called to the matter, that the company will take the necessary steps. If they do not, it will become the duty of our civic authorities to take action in the premises.

We write, it is hardly necessary to say, in no spirit of hostility to the Company, or to any person connected with them. Mr. Shannon, their superintendent, and every man in their employment, have shown the greatest desire to inconvenience the public as little as possible, and their work has been generally speaking, of a most satisfactory nature, but they—if they are responsible—have not been particular throughout. We are aware that they are at present bending all their energies—working night and day—to secure the completion of such portion of their system as will enable them to commence operations by the 1st of December. But the season is now so far advanced that delay in connection with the matters referred to is positively dangerous. Hence we urge the necessary action in respect of the matters referred to.

THE NEW SENATOR.

Mr. John Macdonald, of Toronto, enjoys the rare distinction of having been appointed by his political opponents to a seat in the Upper House—a state of facts, as everybody acquainted with the man, and the appointment is an eminently fitting and proper one in every respect, and will command the unanimous approval of our people.

Senator Macdonald is known in all parts of Canada as one of the most eminent of the merchant princes of the country and as a highly public-spirited, public spirited, liberal and Christian gentleman, the value of whose services in connection with religious, temperance, educational and business affairs has been incontestable. As a politician he is less widely known, but in that connection his abilities have been recognized as very considerable.

The new Senator was born at Perth, Scotland, in December 1824, and has been twice married. He is the son of the great merchant John Macdonald & Co. of Toronto and Manchester, England. Politically he is an uncompromising Liberal, and in religion a Methodist. Mr. Macdonald's active political career dates from 1861, when he was elected to the Canadian Assembly for Toronto West and sat in the Legislative Assembly until the year, when he was defeated for the same seat in the Commons by the late R. A. Harrison.

A Common Cold

It is the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchitis, Croup, etc. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is always at hand to cure the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Two years ago I was attacked with a severe cold, which, by neglect and delay, soon became a serious illness. I was unable to get on my feet, and my health was completely ruined. I was then introduced to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using it for a few days, I was able to get on my feet, and my health was completely restored. I am now as well as ever, and I can truly say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy for a Cold or Cough.

THIRTEEN YEARS OF TORTURE.
Mrs. Thomas Acres, of Huxley, Ont., was for years a sufferer from great suffering, which doctors medicine did not relieve.

A Pleasant Gathering and a Happy Hop at the City Hall.

Young men and young women to the number of 200 or more, danced the hours away last night at the City Hall.

The place was beautifully decorated with greenery, flags, banners and streamers, and the floor was in prime condition.

A smaller lot of men and a smaller company of dancing couples were present for the dance would be difficult to get together.

A programme of 32 pieces, with supper, was served, and kept their feet busy until cold crowding in the morning.

Every ball has its ups and downs, and this had a number of claimants, but the honors may be fairly said to be divided between Mr. J. W. and Miss Morris.

The dinner at the Henderson House was one of the captain's best. The large dining hall was crowded with tables.

The bill of fare was excellent. The proceeds are for the Grand Truck Library.

This fund will be beneficially applied, and some three hundred tickets were sold.

The excellent music was furnished by Professor Chabouss's orchestra. The success and the management of the assembly was due to the efforts of the gentlemen having control of the floor, viz., Messrs. J. G. McKinnon, J. Marshall, F. Kitchin, Robert Macdonald, Mr. G. T. Ford, Director, and Messrs. J. C. McLean, J. C. McLean, J. C. McLean.
